Host Projects in non-EU / Partner Countries

1. El Arca de Honduras (Tegucigalpa, Honduras)

Description

El Arca de Honduras is a member of the El Arca International Federation, which is dedicated to the creation and growth of homes, programmes, and support networks with people who have intellectual disabilities. It was founded in 1964 and today it's an international organisation operating 149 communities (homes) in 37 countries on all five continents. El Arca de Honduras has two communities (homes) in the country, one in the capital of Honduras, Tegucigalpa, which currently has 28 beneficiaries and another one in southern Honduras, in Choluteca, which currently has 25 beneficiaries. Its main aim is to offer people with intellectual disability a family-styled living environment that encourages them to create a home, to develop their skills and talents, to build friendships, and quite simply, to make the most of life. The beneficiaries live together in homes sharing life with one another and building a community as responsible adults. They participate in different workshops, learning how to create different kitchen materials such as tablecloths and mittens, decorations for households such as candles, cleaning materials such as mops, and different types of garments. It is affiliated to CIARH (Coordinadora de Instituciones y Asociaciones de Rehabilitación en Honduras), which is the Honduran network of organisations that works toward the mental and physical rehabilitation of the people of Honduras.

Role of the volunteer

The main role of the volunteers in El Arca de Honduras is to support the qualified staff members of the organisation mainly in the two types of workshops taught to the organisation's beneficiaries, people with disabilities. These workshops are occupational and therapeutic. The volunteer also supports in the different activities in the daily cohabitation with the beneficiaries, and with chores in order to upkeep and maintain the organisation's home.

Tasks of the volunteer

During the first period of adaptation, the volunteers will test each activity of El Arca de Honduras to understand which one is more suitable according to their skills and attitudes. This phase is very important in order to implement the project's goals and to overcome possible communication problems with the hosts. The volunteer will be assigned to an area which best suits her/his abilities and interests. In case the volunteer has know-how that the organization does not possess, the volunteer will be given a chance to put it into practice. According to this, any of the activities described below will be open to suggestions coming from the volunteers:

a) Supporting the activities of the occupational and therapeutic workshops:

Occupational Workshops: making kitchen materials such as tablecloths and mittens, decorations for households such as candles, cleaning materials such as mops, and different types of garments.

Therapeutic Workshops: educational and board games, recreational activities such as walks, massage lessons, painting.

The presence of the volunteer will contribute to stimulating hosts to take part in such workshops and activities. They will also be able to suggest other new activities according to their culture, for example international cooking or traditional music and dance shows.

b) Helping in everyday life:

- The volunteer will support the staff members in preparing meals and the hosts with special needs during the meal by cutting the meat, helping them to drink water and eat, etc.
- Supporting the people with disabilities by participating preparing their meals and house duties as well as sharing other things like free time in a family.

c) Developing social relationships:

- The volunteer will have important contacts with the hosts, spending with them most of the time talking and listening to their special needs (for example: helping them to walk through the home, playing cards, reading newspaper, telling stories, writing, and so on).

Sharing and living with everyone in the home and participate in the everyday life.

Practical arrangements (working hours, days off, holidays, food, accommodation, local transport)

- Working Hours: The volunteer will work about 7 hours every day from Monday to Friday. The weekly working time is 35 hours. In the home of El Arca de Honduras in Tegucigalpa, the daily working time will usually be 8:00 – 16:00 from Monday to Friday. The timetable will be set up according to the volunteer's skills and preferences. The volunteer will have the opportunity to propose her/his own initiatives.
- Days off: Saturdays and Sundays
- Holidays: 15th September; 3rd, 12th and 21st October; 15th December – 15th January (holiday in the workshops). Moreover, the volunteer shall receive 2 days off per month, so for the 8-months volunteering period, the volunteer will have 16 days off, which can be taken in consultation with the host project.

- Food: The volunteer can share three daily meals together with the beneficiaries and staff members, and/or with the host family if she/he is allocated to live in a host family.
- Accommodation: El Arca de Honduras has suitable accommodation for international volunteers within the organisation, or the volunteer can be allocated to a host family outside of the organisation.
- Local Transport: The volunteer will be explained on using local transport during the on-arrival and orientation activities. The home of El Arca de Honduras in Tegucigalpa is located in an area accessible by local transport.

2. UN TECHO PARA MI PAIS ECUADOR (Quito, Ecuador)

Description

TECHO is an organization operating in Latin America and the Caribbean that seeks to overcome the poverty that thousands of people live in slums, through joint action by its people and young volunteers. TECHO is convinced that poverty can definitely be overcome if society as a whole fails to recognize that this is a priority issue and is actively working to resolve it.

TECHO pursues 3 strategic priorities: The promotion of community development in slums; fostering social awareness; and political advocacy that promotes structural changes to ensure that poverty does not expand further. TECHO's vision is a fair and poverty free society, where everyone has the opportunities needed to develop their capacities and fully exercise their rights. In 5 years TECHO wants to be a leader in promoting the urban agenda through innovative projects together with the communities of the whole continent.

TECHO has experience in strengthening community participation and activism in the poorest areas of Ecuador. 5. Cebu Technological University Argao Campus (Cebu City, Philippines)

Description

Cebu Technological University (CTU) is a government-run educational institution located in Cebu, Philippines. CTU is home to over 40,000 Filipino students from mostly low income families across the province of Cebu.

It has one main campus in Cebu City, eight satellite campuses in the Municipalities of Argao, Barili, Carmen, Daanbantayan, Danao Moalboal, San Francisco and Tuburan and twelve extension campuses in Bantayan Island, San Remigio, Tabogon, Pinamungajan, Bitoon-Barili, Bonbon-Cebu City, San Fernando, Naga, Dumanjug, Malabuyoc, Samboan and Oslob.

Aside from providing quality tertiary education, CTU understands its role beyond its campuses, that's why the dynamic presence of community/research extension services in all of its campuses are well placed to support its commitment on community development. The CTU-Argao Campus through its Extension Services Department has been actively involved on the industry of Hablon production specifically on research, product development, community organizing and livelihood initiatives. Hablon is a by-product produced in a traditional process of weaving known in the town of Argao. It is made of local fibers such as piña, abaca, and cotton.

The Hablon industry in Argao, Cebu has been intricately woven in history, making it a part of its people's culture and identity. As accounted by many Spanish missionaries, the weaving industry is as old as the town itself. That's why the school is making an aggressive move in building collaboration with like-minded institutions to help revive the interest of the local people in the production of the fabric, create market demand to provide financial stability and most of all retain the tradition and cultural identity of its local people.

Role of the volunteer

The role of the volunteer is to appreciate, learn and replicate the knowledge, attitude and skills gained from the project. Specifically, the volunteer will be actively involved in the product development and share new ideas and innovations to further develop the Hablon Fabric Production Project. The volunteer's role is also to share his/her culture and have a rich intercultural interaction between the locals to also experience their local way of life.

Tasks of the volunteer

- Appreciate and understand the culture and traditions of Hablon Industry and local life
- Get familiar with the production and marketing of the local fabric industry and other related cottage industries
- Share/suggest ideas and or innovations for further product development of local cottage industry
- Co-facilitate and or organize capacity building training to the local youth about local cottage industry, inter-cultural learning and other product related development
- Assist in the promotion and marketing of local cottage industry
- Meet and interact with local community like students and staff of CTU-Argao, local government and other local communities
- Review and give feedback for product or program development

- Document experiences and make recommendations
- Learn to speak the local language

Practical arrangements (working hours, days off, holidays, food, accommodation, local transport)

- Working Hours: 8 hours/day
- Days off: Two days a week, usually weekends
